Memories of Bushy

From Wendell Jones (??)

wendelljones@earthlink.net

Thoughts about My Many Journeys
By Wendell Jones

I was raised on a small subsistence farm with a widowed mother whose only income and food for the family came from cows we milked by hand and foods we raised. The farm included a house with electricity but no running water, a smoke house where cured meats were stored all winter, a cellar filled with fruits and vegetables canned every summer, and a cistern with rain water for drinking, cooking, and bathing. We kids were bathed in a washtub every Saturday with water heated on the black wood stove in the kitchen. I never really liked farm life and dreamed of travel to far away places.

One day my sister, who was fourteen years older, approached Mom about me joining her family when they move to England. "We would like to take him with us to England to live with us" "How long will he be gone?" "Three years. William's tour of duty with the Air Force is three years" "That is a long time for a mother to be away from her youngest child" "Yes Mom, I know it is. But it will be a good experience for him. "No mother should be asked to give up her last child so young" Mom was an uneducated woman who never ventured far from home. The next county was almost a foreign land for her. She could not even travel to her son's wedding years later because it was hundreds of miles away.

Yet on that day she knew deep down that it was a special opportunity for her son. I will always admire her and be grateful that she did not insist that her youngest child remain home with her. It was an unselfish act for my mother and my sister and a decision that changed my life forever. The experience of living and going to high school in London was a profoundly significant experience that was the beginning of a journey to see and experience the world that remains with me to this day.

I have traveled this world and have always appreciated people from all cultures. And on a negative side, I have witnessed religious bigotry, racial prejudice, abject poverty and the violence of war. But more importantly, I have appreciated the beauty of the countryside in Southeast Asia, Europe, China, Japan, and the Middle East--yes, the Middle East, as even the desert has a special beauty of its own.

My Vietnam War experiences showed the good in people in even the worst of circumstances. The Japanese people befriended me at every opportunity during my journey through Japan, showing a much different people from the Japanese who committed unspeakable cruelties during WW II.

My 2002 trip to China leading a trade delegation was special as one of a few Americans publicly introduced in the Great Hall of the People. "What an irony", I thought at the time—"I spent two years of my life in Vietnam fighting the Communists so that the Red Chinese would not dominate the world. Now, I am proud to be an honored guest of the Chinese government. " As a guest of the Jordanian government a year later, I had a special opportunity to socialize in an informal setting around a campfire with King Abdullah. While all of these journeys are great memories, the most influential was my three years in England as a boy age 15-17 living with Lieutenant William Sumner, my sister, Rosanna, and their two young boys.

During those three years William and Rosanna rented an old English manor house with fireplaces in every room and a huge coal stove in the kitchen to heat a house with eight bedrooms. Ten months later, we moved into base family quarters with an 1100 square foot three bedroom house. Our first Christmas was without William who was away on temporary duty.

During the school year, I lived in a dorm and attended school in London at an American school with both dorm and day students. I came out of my shell and gained enough self confidence to run for senior class president. Much to my surprise, I won by two votes. I and my other class officers were dedicated to making it a meaningful senior year—we had weekend outings in London, Friday night socials, and we earned enough money to pay for a senior trip to the Worlds Fair in Brussels where we all stayed with Belgian families. I enjoyed British pubs playing darts and drinking warm beer. Pub keepers never asked in those days for your ID card because the legal age was 18. As a tall boy, they must have assumed that I was of legal drinking age. I learned to love the British way of life and at an early age got the bug for travel and new experiences which are still with me today.

My life has been filled with many challenging, exciting and interesting journeys. While those early experiences in England were influential, without question, the happiest journey of all has been my forty-five years of marriage to my wife, the mother of our three children and the grandmother of our seven grandchildren. Each time we packed and moved, it was primarily her responsibility to get the kids into school and make the new residence into a home, while I immediately reported for work. Within days I was often into long hours at work or days away from home on temporary duty or a business trip.

We enjoy our time together as much today as ever. Our love life and love of life are still as good and strong as ever, and we are always dreaming of embarking on new journeys. I do not know when time together will end, but I suspect that until then, we will be embarking on journeys physically for as long as we are able and mentally until the final moments.

Thank you for the Katrina updates. I have been intending to write something to include in the monthly newsletter and have been somewhat intimidated because my memories are not as crystal clear as many who have written. I finally found my scrapbook and have a number of memory joggers now. I couldn't even remember my five roommates names as they were not the girls I have stayed in contact with over the years. I was at Bushy Park most of my Junior year, then went to Lakenheath with many of my friends. There were a few interesting dorm stories I do remember vividly and will relay them for the November issue. Thanks again to everyone who helps with the newsletter.

Mini Reunions

nemoamasa@worldnet.att.net

Pictured are Tina Pisanelli (59) Carder and Paul Griffiths. Tina and her family traveled from her home in Arizona to visit Paul, who lives in Maryland. Paul was a friend of not only Tina but also her brother Danny and Joe Miranda (60) while they were stationed at Wethersfield (Braintree). They hadn't seen each other since the late 1950s when both were teenagers. Paul always said that Mrs. Pisanelli introduced him to pizza. Paul and his family moved to the United States in the late 1960s. Paul is also a friend of Pat Terpening Owen (58).

Reunion News

From Celeste Brodigan (57)
Mbrodi1939@aol.com

Dear Gary:

Wanted to wish you Godspeed on your Coast Guard duty. I understand that of all the efforts those of the Coast Guard have been superb. I am distressed that I cannot go. I am a member of the Loudoun County Medical Reserve Corps and was called up but with my foot in a non-walking cast would be a burden. They did say efforts will continue for months so perhaps in late October I will be able to assist. Here is a short piece for the next newsletter:

"REUNION"

"Reunion" a splendid word. Over the years I watched my parents attend several gatherings of old friends. My children and I were able to go to an Air Force Celebration with them once and it was just delightful seeing them visit with friends of long ago. Never did I think that I would be able to feel the same way until Pat Owen, our terrific detective, found me.

Attending three Reunions was delicious, one in Las Vegas, another in Branson and then in San Diego. All of the organizers put a marvelous effort into planning and we enjoyed every moment.

If you have not been to a Reunion please put it on your wish list. You will not regret going.

The next is in DC from October 7th through the 10th less than a month away. The Central event will be a dinner/dance on Saturday, October 8th from 7 to 12 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Rosslyn, Virginia. If you live in the area at least plan to be there on this lovely evening. Contact Bill Cooper at liammail@erols.com or (301) 262-6865 for details.

My month was initially too complicated for me to attend but being in a non-walking cast I now have that lovely option and am looking forward to seeing everyone.

"...Fan the sinking flame of hilarity with the wing of friendship; And pass the rosy wine...."
Charles Dickens

Thanks again Gary for your continued good labors for all. Celeste Brodigan

First, if you've already signed up for the reunion but will not be able to make it because of Katrina-related problems, I will, of course, refund your registration and dinner/dance fees. Just be sure to tell me before 30 September.

Second, for those of you who haven't signed up but would like to come, it's not too late to join the DC 2005 LCHS Reunion in Washington D.C., 7 through 10 October, 2005. The Holiday Inn, Rosslyn, will honor our special reservation rate until 16 September, and those who wish to attend can register with me for the reunion and dinner/dance as late as 30 September. If you need an info/registration form, just email me at liammail@erols.com or snail mail at 9916 Dolby Avenue, Glenn Dale, MD 20769.

This and That

As always, an enjoyable Newsletter, Gary. None of your crowd would remember Steve Warren, Science/Physics teacher at both Bushey and Wycombe - started the first Computer Class at High Wycombe. Steve used to live in that single dwelling at the front of West Ruislip Base - he and his wife Veronica had 10 children, all of whom went to our schools. Personally, I never taught a Warren child who wasn't pleasant, cooperative and friendly to all. I, along with all my colleagues and students with whom I am still in touch, feel very saddened by the email below I received from Joe Burke, a Wycombe student. Martha Gail Kelly

Subject: Loss of a friend

Friends and Family,

I recently returned from an overseas trip and received a letter from Mr & Mrs Warren to inform us of their son, Charles, death in Iraq. Charles is Tom and Rachel Warren's younger brother. He was serving in the GA National Guard in Iraq. He and two others were killed when the vehicle they were driving in hit an IED, a mine. He is survived by his wife of six years Carol and their children Jackson and Madeline. Charles never got the chance to meet his new daughter Madeline who was born a month ago while he was deployed. A trust fund has been set up for the children, info is below. I have also included Mr. & Mrs. Warren's address for those that wish to contact them. Please keep the Warren family in your thoughts and prayers.

From reading this special edition, I was thankful to hear that the one couple living outside Biloxi are ok. I don't know of anyone living in that area. The following is for your next Bushy Tales:

I am so proud of my adopted city of Phoenix and their response to the hurricane evacuees from New Orleans. They began arriving in Phoenix 3 days ago and already many of them have moved into homes or apartments, gotten employment, children are in school and a lot of employers are going to the shelter today to interview and hire more of them in local companies. Plus the outpouring of monetary contributions and new clothing is wonderful. Phoenix, Arizona is truly a city with heart!

In August, he also competed in Road Runner Club of America National Championships for half marathon in Parkersburg W. VA and for ten-miles in Annapolis, MD. His 05 season has included age group finishes including third place at the Palm Springs Half Marathon, third place at the Sallie May 10K, first place at the White Lake NC half Iron man, fourth place at the St. Croix half iron man, first place in the Altoona 15 K, first place at the Hampton, VA Tri-America triathlon, and first place at the Muncie half iron man. Gary, it seems there are loads of people in Texas from Bushey. I would be interested in hosting some kind of meeting, luncheon, etc. in the Houston area if there is anyone willing to get together. Let me know. Thanks so much for all you do to keep this alive. We do appreciate it.

I will be sending you some input for the Newsletter. Meanwhile, I would like to hear from any of our Bushy Park classmates who live in Nevada. I have accepted a one-year teaching stint for the University of Southern Nevada in its new MBA program. USN is pharmacy school in Henderson offering an MBA starting this year. If they are happy with me and me with them, we may agree on a contract for 2-5 years. Meanwhile. I would like to make new friends with Bushy Park people in the Las Vegas area.

From Peter Burnett (58)

Bobcats, I have been recalled to work at the US Small Business Administration, Disaster Area 4,(Sacramento) where I am employed as a Business Loan Officer/Analyst. I have been on a medical leave since 21 July. Last year Charley, Bonnie, Jeane and Ivan were terrible and we are still dealing with the economic support of citizens in Florida, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi to rebuild homes, businesses and lives. As a retired banker, this became a second career for me, and one of the most rewarding things I have ever done. The scope of Katrina exceeds by a hundredfold all that happened in 2004. One thing 2004 did do is provide a ready and trained reserve in the SBA Disaster Lending that is ready. I have been advised that SBA wants me to head one of the customer service teams into Biloxi - Mobile Area as soon as FEMA has done what they need to do. Of course we cannot do anything with economic redevelopment in New Orleans until the water is gone and the land dries out. As we know from TV, that could be 6 - 9 months before rebuilding can begin.

I am not sure when I will be in the field as I have some health issues to resolve before I can go, but I want to be there in the very worst of ways. I don't get much "rare" information as a GS 13 as I am too far down the food chain. But, I will share with my Bobcat family what I can as I see and hear it.

My wife and I were in Gulfport 8/14 to 8/20 while I did a locums job at Gulfport Memorial Hospital. I was scheduled to go back next week, but that has been cancelled. The B&B we were going to stay at in Biloxi is gone and there is no place to stay. The great restaurant in an old ante-bellum home where we ate one night is gone. Betty wanted to visit Jeff Davis' home, gone now. The radiology group I was working with lost four of seven homes. Lord knows how many of their staff lost their places.

If anyone needs a place to stay in northern Arkansas, we might be able to help.

This is a follow up to my previous email about Hugh Pell (60). I received an email from Hugh Pell letting me know that he and his family came through the storm in good shape and damage was minor to their home and grounds. They have had electricity for several days. It's nice to report good news.

From Hugh Pell (60)

Info to late for the "Special Edition." Thanks for your concern. I suffered a mild heart attack the Saturday before the storm hit and was in the hospital in Slidell during the storm. My wife was with me but my son rode out the storm at home. The house suffered minor damage but, with no power or water and no way to acquire medication, we decided to drive to my Mother's in Raleigh, NC.

We are all okay and planning to return home day after tomorrow. I appreciate the concern you showed with your message.

From Lois (Marushak) Butler (61)

Going through some "stuff" I ran across the "Welcome to Lakenheath" handbook printed in April of 1959.

Under Education the following was provided - "Central High School at Bushy Park, near London is available for students in grades ten through twelve. Students board at the school during the week and on week ends transportation is provided to bring them home after class on Friday and return them Sunday evening. The cost for room and board is $1.50 per school day per student plus $.50 for each meal they may eat on Sunday."

Boy did our folks get off cheap! $7.50 a week to not have to get after us to do homework, clean our rooms, feed us, get us out the door on time every morning and have after school activities every day. It was great wasn't it!

Also included in the handbook is a glossary of words. These are just a few I had forgotten about:

Air (for tires)- wind
Barrette - Hair slide
Bobby pins - Hair grips
Blanket - Rug
Electric cord - Flex
Fender (car) - Wings
Hardware store - Ironmonger
Hood (car) - Bonnet
Horn - Hooter
Pants (women) - Panties, knickers
Sweater - Jumper or woollie
Station wagon - Shooting brake
Swimming pool - Public bath
Telephone booth - Kiosk

Wash cloth - Face flannel
Weather stripping - Draft excluder

Thank you all for the work that goes into the newsletter. We appreciate it.

Gary, what a wonderful idea this special Hurricane Issue! Good for you! I thought folks might be interested in knowing that our middle daughter, Edie, has lived in NOLA for over 15 years. They, with their 9 and 8 year old daughters, and their two dogs and a cat were able to evacuate Sunday afternoon before landfall Monday morning. Many horrendous stories but they were eventually able to make their way to us in our small fishing village on the coast of Maine, Friendship, where we spend our summers. They have moved into a house offered by friends, the girls are enrolled in the Friendship Village School where they are celebrities, and we, of course, are overwhelmed with relief that they are safe.

But they mourn their beloved city. Their house on Esplanade Ave. was not flooded, damaged, or looted, so far. Edie is a professor at Xavier Univ., badly damaged. Yakir, her husband, an Israeli, is the owner of Stephen Ambrose Historic Tours where the roof blew off the offices. He is able to run his tours from here and Edie is writing a book but the future remains uncertain. Schools are closed indefinitely. Yakir hopes to get back into the city this week for reconnoitering, but they will probably remain in Friendship for several months.

Proud of you and your Coast Guard involvement. Edie and Yakir say the Coast Guard has always been the most reliable first responders in New Orleans.

I'm sorry this has been the first I have participated in your very impressive newsletter and I send best greetings to all!

So good to hear that most of our classmates are ok, if not all of them. I've been to the National Submarine Veterans Convention in Kansas City all week and haven't been near a computer. So this was welcome news to me. The Ursuline Sisters throughout the country have opened their convents to the Ursulines in New Orleans. Our College in Atchison has taken a number of students, - free tuition and Board and Room for the Semester. And there are homes and etc. being offered by various parishioners in the Paola KS area.

Thanks Gary, you are doing a superb job! I have relatives in the Florida Panhandle and they got hit pretty bad last year (Ivan I think) they fared okay with Katrina. I knew we probably had some Bushy people in that area. Such devastation. I first saw New Orleans in 1947. We stopped for the day on our way to Savannah, GA (our new assignment). It was beautiful. Then between my daughters freshman and sophomore year in high school we went with my parents all the way to Key West (Rene had never been out of CA) so had another chance to see that beautiful city of New Orleans. How sad that it is all gone but the memories will linger on and I have some pictures somewhere. I have moved from a 2 bedroom duplex to a studio and have excess furniture. If anyone needs such, I will be glad to give it to them (they'll have to pick up as I have no way to get it to them). If not I will call Salvation Army and check with them. Let me know if anyone knows of a need. Take care all.

Gary,
I was hoping to make the reunion in October, but the high school I graduated from is having its reunion the same weekend. Last year or even the year before, someone wrote in wanting to know what happened to Carolyn Congress (60). She was in my class at Bushy Park my sophomore year. The following year

I spent at Carlisle High School at Carlisle, PA. When I moved back to Montgomery Co. Maryland in 1959 and went to Walter Johnson High School for my senior year, Carolyn Congress and Norman Cooper (who also attended Bushy Park) were in my homeroom. I will try to find out about Carolyn at the Walter Johnson reunion.

From Your Editor: I don't often do this but this time I just could not help myself. I am proud of what the Coast Guard has accomplished during the hurricane relief and so it seems was someone else. The picture below came from the Editorial Column of some newspaper – not sure which. We have, and still are, working hard to see that everyone that is danger is rescued and brought to safety. That's our job everyday but at times like this it is even more important. Thank God for our training.

It is hard to see, because I had to make the picture so small to get it in here, but at the bottom of the line is a rescue basket with a person in it. Under that it says "New Orleans"

Saints". And for those that don't know, that is a Coast Guard helicopter. ☺
